AUSTRALIAN FOUGHT BACK DESPERATELY

Both Men Were Eager, but the Californian Had by Far the Best of Every Round but One-Featherweight Knockout.

CHICAGO, March 21 .- The six-round contest between Joe Choynski and Dan Creedon was a draw, no decision being given by the referee. The conditions of the match provided that if both men were on their feet at the conclusion of the sixth round, no deision would be given. Choynski had all the best of it, except in one round. He knocked Creedon down twice, brought the blood in a stream from his nose and had his man tired and groggy when the sixth round closed. Choynski weighed 161 pounds, and, although Creedon's weight was not given, he looked to weigh fully as much.

to weigh fully as much.

In the first round Choynski landed on Creedon's head and got a hot one on the body in return. Several exchanges followed, but no heavy blows were struck.

The second round was Choynski's, he doing all the leading and landing frequently with his left on Creedon's heart and face. He drew first blood with a wicked drive and had Creedon badly winded when the gong sounded. He drew first blood with a wicked drive and had Creedon badly winded when the going sounded.

Creedon had the best of it in the third, geting in several hot blows and driving Choynski into the ropes with a blow over the kidneys as Choynski rose from a duck. In the fourth Creedon reached Choynski's wind several times, but the latter kept poking his left in Creedon's face with a persistence that seemed to demoralize the latter. Both were tired at the close.

In the fifth Choynski landed his left on Creedon's head and sent him to the floor, Dan coming down as hard as though he had fallen off a three-story building.

In the last round it was hammer and tongs, with Choynski doing all the hammering. He drove right and left into Creedon's face, and finally gave him a smash that laid him flat, Creedon clinched repeatedly to save himself and was a very weary man when the round closed. He did not look to go two rounds more.

Jimmy Barry of Chicago, the 105-pound champion, practically knocked out Joe Bertrand of California in a six-round contest before the fight of the evening came off. Bertrand was knocked down a dozen times and was not able to stand in the sixth round, the fighting being stoped to save a knockout. Bertrand fought gamely, however, and scored a knockdown in the third round.

TERRIBLE SWEDE TERRIBLY BEATEN

Iwenty-Two Round Fight at Galena, Kan

with the Sheriff as a Spectator. KANSAS CITY, March 21 .- "Paddy" Pur tell made a chopping block out of Johnson the "Terrible Swede," before the Galeni Athletic club at Galena, Kan., last night, putting him to sleep in the twenty-second round with three corking jabs with the left in the mouth, following by a swinging right-hander on the face. Johnson was terribly punished, his body looking like a piece of raw liver. It was fully ten minutes before he regained consciousness. Johnson was not in the fight after the first round.

The mill was fought in the opera house and was witnessed by a large crowd of sports, including the mayor of Galena and the sheriff of Cherokee county. Notwithstanding Governor Morrill's strict orders to the sheriff, there was no attempt made to put a stop to the fight at any stage. After it was all over Johnson and Purtell were both arrested, but it is the supposition that the arrest was only a mere formality.

The citizens of Galena, which is a place of soms 500 inhabitants, not only did not sympathize with the governor in his effort to prevent the mill, but seemed very indignant that he should have attempted to interfere. The citizens seemed determined to have the fight and they had it. Athletic club at Galena, Kan., last night

FEARED IT SPOILED HIS CASE

Unusual Language Used by Judge Scott Before a Jury Worried Mr. Day.

WOOLRIDGE CONVICTED IN SPITE OF IT

Balthas Jetter Then Put on Trial for the Same Offense-Court Opined that the "Scapegoat" Was Alone Likely to Suffer.

Judge Scott yesterday thoroughly disgusted the prosecution in the case of the state against H. L. Woolridge, the defendant in which is under indictment for selling liquor without a license. He did this by stating before the jury that in the opinion of the court the defendant was being made the scapegoat to shield the real offender. "I hold in my hand," said Judge Scott, 'evidence of this fact, which has been offered to the defendant's attorney, but never introduced in this court. I think the responsible man in this criminal matter is the man Jetter, who has not been brought to trial.

Why? That is what I want to know." Mr. Day informed the court that Jetter would be brought to trial if the court so desired.

"Well, I desire it," replied Judge Scott "Look at these papers."

Day read the papers and gave his opinion that they had nothing to do with the case in hand. The court originally intended to make extended remarks upon the matter, but when Attorney Day in his address to the when Attorney Day in his address to the jury called the attention of the jury to the fact that Woolridge sold whisky out of a teapot and called it tea, thereby showing that he was aware that he was breaking the law, whether he was the real proprietor of the place or not, the court concluded to say no more, and the contents of the papers were not disclosed to the jury. Attorney Day bitterly complained privately of the court having made such statements before the jury, as they tended to defeat the prosecution, which was making every effort to secure a conviction. The evidence which Judge Scott held re-vealed a little of the inside history of the Jetter-Woolridge cases. Jetter is charged with being a partner in the saloon at Batavia Place. The papers which are in the possession of the court show that Jetter supplied the saloon with liquors of various kinds plied the saloon with liquors of various kinds and that he agreed to take out the saloon license in his own name, taking Woolridge's note for $500, on which Woolridge paid $100. Though he held this note since last December Jetter did not apply for the license until February 16, a couple of days after Woolridge was indicted. Just before Woolridge's trial began Jetter returned the unpaid note to Woolridge upon his attorney's advice to to Woolridge upon his attorney's advice to wash his hands of the matter, though he is himself under indictment.

The jury shortly before noon brought in a erdict of guilty against Woolridge. Balthas Jetter, of whose guilt Judge Scott was so confident, was put on trial immediately, after the Woolridge jury had retired to consider its verdict.
